Disney's
Aladdin

Once, in a faraway land, there was a princess named Jasmine. Her father, the Sultan, gave her everything she wished for. But Jasmine wanted to know what life was like outside the palace.

Jasmine sneaked into the village and met a young man named Aladdin. The two quickly became friends.

Aladdin fell in love with the princess and wanted to see her again. With the help of the Genie, Aladdin visited Jasmine at the palace and took her on an amazing magic carpet ride.

Meanwhile, Jafar, an evil wizard, was plotting to take over the kingdom. Jasmine, with the help of Aladdin and the Genie, foiled Jafar's wicked plan.

Jasmine fell in love with Aladdin. And with the Sultan's blessing, the beautiful princess and the brave young man lived happily ever after.

When Jasmine sneaks out of her father's palace and meets a handsome young man named Aladdin, she doesn't realize it, but she's about to go on the magic carpet ride of her life!

Random House
www.randomhouse.com/kids/disney

02072
9 780736 420723
ISBN 0-7364-2072-X

Artwork created by Disney Storybook Artists
Written by Jennifer Liberts Wein

Copyright © 2002 Disney Enterprises, Inc. ed
under International and Pan-American Co ions.
Published in the United States by Random w York, and simultaneously in Canada by Random a Limited, Toronto, in conjunction with Disn nc.
RANDOM HOUSE and colophon are registered trademarks of Random House, Inc. Printed in China September 2002
10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2